This is an excellent opportunity for a motivated student aspiring to gain practical experience.

Principal duties and responsibilities

Working alongside IT developers, a new member of the team will be involved in a wide range of activities:

- Performing manual testing of product features and identifying required fixes.
- Identifying and reporting bugs in a project management system.
- Creating and reviewing automation code.
- Participating in preparation of testing plans.
- Maintaining and distributing software documentation, reference manuals, and training guides.
- Working with IT developers, product managers and other team members to improve current processes.

Requirements

- Enrolment in an IT related study programme.
- Basics of web & programming skills (HTML, JavaScript, PHP) and understanding of software testing concepts.
- Analytical mind and problem-solving attitude.
- Diligence and attention to detail.
- Understanding of Agile practices would be advantageous.
- Any experience in automated testing would be advantageous.
- Genuine curiosity and willingness to learn.
- A sense of humour always helps.

What we offer

- Remuneration based on your experience.
- Hands on practical experience from the very beginning in a fast-growing FinTech startup.
- Truly flexible working hours – studies, volunteering, daytime gym - no problem.
- Option to work remotely.
- Quarterly team building events.
- Transparent and open culture - you will be heard.
- Friendly team with excellent environment for personal growth and development.
- Professional growth opportunities (training courses of your choice, books, conferences, etc.)
